DIARY NOTES

DD/S W L

23 March 1964

25X1C4d 1. At the Executive Committee Meeting this morning Mr. Kirkpatrick indicated that he thought the [REDACTED] expected us to pay more than our fair share of the [REDACTED] and he asked Dick Helms and me to watch out for this. I said that the [REDACTED] had also requested a communicator, which we thus far had not seen fit to supply. Both Kirk and Dick thought that we might be wrong on this score, and Dick undertook to examine the whole matter.

2. I arranged for Bob Fuchs and [REDACTED] on the financial aspects of proprietaries at 3 p.m. today.

3. Bob Fuchs called to say that [REDACTED] had telephoned regarding an unwitting General Accounting Office auditor who has been after [REDACTED] to find out why the money spent in connection with the A-11 had not been audited by GAO. I asked Bob to ascertain [REDACTED] the urgency of the problem and who in GAO has the proper clearance. I suggested that, when this information has been received, it would probably be necessary to have someone speak to Mr. Campbell, Comptroller General, in order to put the matter to rest.

4. I talked to Paul Chretien about his approval of DD/S&T's 23 January 1964 memorandum requesting approval to advertise for life scientists in the name of CIA. Paul explained that he had intended to go along with the nonconcurrence of the Deputy Director for Support and the Directors of Personnel and Security and had not intended to approve DD/S&T's request.

6. I discussed several items with Matt Baird.

a. We talked about the objectives of the Intelligence Review Course, and I asked him to take a few minutes at the DD/S Staff Meeting to explain more precisely what is wanted of DD/S components in this course.

b. I also talked to Matt about his memorandum to Senior Training Officers dated 6 March regarding the qualifications of the participants in the first and second Midcareer Courses. We came to a complete understanding as to the kind of specialist he was talking about who should not be selected for this Course. He gave as a clear example a TSD costumer who was not prepared for the Course in the first place and who was going right back to being a costumer for the rest of his career. I agreed that this was a clear example and said that the same problem might apply to a payroll clerk or a wage and classification analyst who would return to the same job for the rest of his career. Matt agreed that his wording was unfortunate. I said that I would like to put him on the agenda of a DD/S Staff Meeting at some future date to elaborate on this. We agreed to remove his memorandum from the package going forward to the DDCI.

c. Matt told me that he would like to submit an Eyes Only section to his biweekly report on items which he thought should be brought to my attention but should not be circulated around the staff generally. I told him that he should feel free to do this at any time.

25X1A9a 7. I talked to [REDACTED] about his request for [REDACTED] to replace [REDACTED] who is leaving on 3 April. If he can get Brad, he would be willing to wait until about 1 June if necessary. I promised to call him again not later than Thursday, 26 March.
